Parent Solutions

www.PS-CA.com

Name of service: Parent Education Teens

Explanation of service: Age specific parenting. You will receive parent education specifically addressing the age of your child. Most parents who seek this parent education are referred by the family court or child protective services. It is not necessary to have a court order for services. This curriculum guided service aims to address discipline, communication, bonding, understanding, developmental education for specific ages, and behavior management.

How this works: You will be asked to participate in an intake to provide information about your specific situation with your children. At that time, your clinician will assist you with goals that provides a compromise between you and your children. You will attend as frequent as you would like, unless ordered by the courts otherwise. The clinician may request to meet with your child, depending on their age (s). Joint sessions may be requested to achieve understanding and assist with boundary setting.
